Wen-Parker India Awarded NVOCC License

Wen-Parker India (WPL) has been awarded an NVOCC license in Chennai after a detailed assessment and study by Indian Customs. The NVOCC license will allow WPL to expand their portfolio of services for Inbound and Outbound cargo in Chennai.

“Wen-Parker’s strategically located CFS will help facilitate services using leading edge technology to do: buyer consolidations, container stuffing, container pick up, customs clearance and delivery,” states Vikas Khullar Managing Director, South Asia Region for Wen-Parker India.

Chennai is one of six stations in India and part of a 26-office network for Wen-Parker Logistics worldwide. Other stations in India are: Bangalore, Cochin, Hyderabad, Mumbai and New Delhi. Wen-Parker Logistics is also in the process of securing a license for Mumbai to further expand their service network.

“We are adding local and seasoned logistics professionals to our staff that will continue to deliver value to our business partners. This expansion of WPL’s brand is critical for our ongoing business development,” adds Mr. Khullar.
